Dear Siva,

Refer to the 1st lot shipment (invoice number OMV/154/22-23, OMV/155/22-23, OMV/156/22-23, OMV/157/22-23 & OMV/163/22-23). Kindly note that the shipment was ported out on 22.07.2022, and as per the general procedure, was submitted for sample drawing to the health ministry food inspection unit on 23.07.2022. However, unfortunately, the food inspection unit detained 5 containers stating that the sample result turned out as failed (refer trailing email for the detained container numbers). The failed result is also attached herewith FYR. We are in the process of requesting for resampling. However, kindly note that if the resampling result also turns out as failed, we will have to reshipe this back to you for which the cost will have to be borne from your end. Shall keep you posted on any further developments.

Best Regards,

Dear Shiva,
For the upcoming all the shipments kindly obtain the SGS India Aflatoxin report, because there is a high tendency to release goods here using that.

Dear Madam,

Please find enclosed herewith Analytical report issued by Spices board. Status of the report was "CLEARED FOR EXPORT TO ALL COUNTRIES"

Please show this to your health dept. and request to release the shipment. if they allow resampling then give a well dried good sample.

We have loaded well dried and good quality cargo.

Kindly confirm & acknowledge this mail

Dear Sathish,

We understand your concern, however, kindly note that the decision of the authorities is considered final. We do not draw samples for them, they randomly draw samples and carry out the tests as per the standard procedure. As for the Aflatoxin test report provided by you, we have shared this with the relevant authorities at the point of clearance. Eventhough I have mentioned the word "resampling" earlier, it is more of a retesting that will be done by the authorities. Meaning, the same sample picked previously by them will be retested. This is beyond our control as it is standard procedure. Therefore, all we can do is request for a retesting and await their final result. We will keep you updated on this.

Dear Sathish,

Kindly note whether you obtain Indian Spice Board report Sri Lanken regulation is all the Import Chilli simpmnt sample test and approved by Health Ministry in Sri Lanka. If in any case Health Ministry grown sample rejet there is no option to clear that consignment through Sri Lanken customs, it is mandatory requirement for all import chilli consignment.

Will update the states of this consignment and will try to get the permission for resampling. Also note that initial and 2nd analysis samples were drowned by the Ministry of Health.

My Dear Madam,

Apropos your kind mail of yesterday and from your Manager Procurement & Cost Optimization Mr Yohan, I'm presenting our stance alongside suggesting the approach to overcome this frequent hurdle at Colombo.

I draw your kind attention to the fact that since beginning, our order is for medium quality dried red chili at a commensurate price and we have been shipping the appropriate quality. We scrupulously comply with the Indian Government stipulated pre-shipment testing by internationally accredited laboratories viz Bureau Veritas, NAWAL Analytical Laboratories and our chili shipments are allowed for exports only after the nod from Spices board, which is the chief Govt authority to regulate the chili exports from India. These certificates are issued with particular reference to norms of imports into Sri Lanka.

Our consignments which are in imbroglio now are certified by the Indian Govt bodies after rigorous testing about the aflatoxin levels. Please note these results are at the time of shipping from the load port in India.

Our responsibility is to supply the ordered quality and get the requisite and genuine certificates issued by the nominated Govt authorities and effect the shipments and we do it judiciously. These stringent checks before allowing the chili shipments are done only to totally avoid any rejection at destination that would entail untold losses and inconvenience to both of us. We fulfill our responsibility in all respects at load port.

From the fact that many chili consignments including those of our customers get passed by Sri Lanka health authorities and some get rejected, even from the same lots of goods is a pointer to the arbitrariness in evaluating the parameters at destination side. There are many factors that may affect the attributes of chili consignment from the time they go onboard till reaching destination like weather conditions, long stay inside the closed containers etc and such fluctuations in aflatoxin levels are only temporary and natural, since they are taken of the samples drawn from the immediately opened containers. Once goods are placed in well ventilated and airy stockyards, the goods will regain the quality attributes that were present at the time of loading. Because of this genuine reason, we exhort our buyers to provide equivalent samples from outside which will surely pass the tests and obviate the risks of rejections which are only knee-jerk reactions from the authorities there.

Agro products are susceptible to several factors and no one has control over the inevitable changes they go through and these changes cannot be predicted. For a company of your stature, irrefutable reputation and contribution to the country's economy and GDP, I sincerely request you to use the goodwill, rapport and good offices with appropriate authorities to get all the chili consignments cleared quickly to pave the way for smooth trade between our companies from now on and well deep into the future.

Dear Samy,

Kindly note that for the following shipments Aflatoxin tests turned out as failed. All these testing was carried out by SGS Lanka and we have noticed that there is a high tendency of them to issue failed reports. Therefore, when scheduling future shipments, kindly ensure ETA between 1st and 12th of each month. During this period sampling will be carried out by Bureau Veritas Sri Lanka. By doing so, we will be able to minimize this issue. Therefore, appreciate it if you could revise the plan taking this into consideration.

Dear Samy,

Good morning.

10FCL being scheduled in the 1st week of September is okay because then the sample drawing will be done by Bureau Veritas Sri Lanka. However, the shipments planned for the last week of August need to be advanced. As informed to you earlier, from 15th to 30th-31st each month, sample testing will be carried out by SGS Sri Lanka. Many of the failed containers were tested by them. We want to avoid further shipments being rejected. Therefore, please plan to complete all August shipments ETA before 12.08.2022.

Many thanks for your kind mail. We shall plan the balance shipments in such a way that goods arrive Colombo as you suggest us that is from 1st to 10th September so that quality passing at destination is done by Bureau Veritas without much ado as the passing origin is also taken care of by them.

We shall give dates of shipment in the next mail.

Dear Siva,
It is with great regret that we inform you that the retesting result also turned out to be rejected. The report received is attached herewith FYR. As per the general procedure, if the initial sample testing result turns out as failed, then the sample will be retested (upon request) by a government authority (the result they provide will be final). If that too turns out as failed, then there is no option but to reshipe the goods back. Therefore, we have no option but to reshipe ASLU7002772, ASLU7003634, ASLU7034403, ASLU8005927, ASLU7034276.

There are two options for reshipping.

Option 1 - A new shipment of the same quantity can be arranged on FOC basis as the bank has already released the payment.

Option 2 - Refund to be made to Convenience Foods Lanka PLC for the proportionate value of invoice amount USD 145,901.25/= on or before 30 days of reshipment BL date (quantity replacement not required). Refer below table for the amount computation.

Container Number	Net Weight as per the weight List	Per container amount (USD)
ASLU7002772	13,775	30,993.75
ASLU7003634	12,920	29,070.00
ASLU7034403	12,720	28,620.00
ASLU8005927	12,430	27,967.50
ASLU7034276	13,000	29,250.00

Total Amount in USD 145,901.25

Please let us know which of these two options you prefer. Either way Omvishkar Exports will have to supervise, facilitate and bear the total cost of the reshipping process. Therefore, please let us know the preferred shipping line to reshipe the goods. Also, we require the following letters from Omvishkar Exports to initiate the reshipping process.

1. A letter in Omvishkar Exports company letterhead addressed to "Director General of Customs, Sri Lanka Customs, Colombo, Sri Lanka" stating that as per the general procedure, shipment was submitted for sample drawing to the Sri Lanka health ministry food inspection unit on 23.07.2022. However, unfortunately, the food inspection unit detained 5 out of 10 containers as the sample result turned out as failed (report reference numbers RCT/SGS/23799/03/2022, RCT/SGS/23799/06/2022, RCT/SGS/23799/07/2022, RCT/SGS/23799/08/2022, and RCT/SGS/23799/09/2022 dated J10 25.07.2022) and was directed for retesting after which the sample was again rejected (report reference numbers RCT/NIHS/23799/03/2022, RCT/NIHS/23799/06/2022, RCT/NIHS/23799/07/2022, RCT/NIHS/23799/08/2022, and RCT/NIHS/23799/09/2022 dated 12.08.2022). Therefore, requesting permission to reshipe the goods. Reshipping cost will be borne by Omvishkar Exports and Omvishkar Exports will either replace this shipment to Convenience Foods Lanka PLC by sending another lot (same quantity) under FOC basis (Option 1) OR refund to Convenience Foods Lanka PLC the proportionate invoice amount USD 145,901.25/= on or before 30 days of reshipment BL date (Option 2). One of the two options needs to be clearly mentioned.

2. Same aforementioned letter to be addressed to the Consignee Bank (State Bank of India, No.16, Sir Baron Jayatilake Mawatha, Colombo 01, Sri Lanka).

Appreciate your quick response in this regard. For your easy reference I have attached herewith both the rejection reports.

Dear Siva,

Kind reminder on the requested letters. Please note that we are unable to initiate the reexport process without these letters. Also, the more the reexport process is delayed the more RCT rent and liner demurrage will apply for these containers which we are unable to bear. Therefore, please share the requested letters ASAP.

Dear Siva,

The local agent has been constantly following up on the returning of these containers to the yard. Since a significant time has elapsed, they are pushing us to settle the liner demurrage bill to date. Herewith, I have attached the liner demurrage invoice shared by them. We will settle the full amount from our end. Please make arrangements to refund 50% of this charge to us asap. Our finance team will share with you a debit note for this refundable amount.

Dear Daminda, Imantha and Yuran,

Please share with the supplier a debit note for 50% of the total invoice amount in USD (including CFL bank details to refund this amount).

Ms. Shara De Fonseka,
Senior Executive Supply Chain,
Convenience Foods (Lanka) PLC.,
Ratmalana, Sri Lanka.

My Dear Madam,

This has reference to your kind mails intimating us about the test results of 10 fcls of dried chili consignments which we had shipped to your esteemed company in different lots and at different times in the recent months. We assert that we have done all our chili shipments in total compliance with the quality clauses stated in the proforma invoices which were approved at your side including the nominated government authorities of Sri Lanka, based on which the letters of credit were issued by your bank which contained the certifications required for the shipments at the load port. Your company ordered dried chili - medium at the commensurate price and we had judiciously supplied them. All our shipments were subjected to the quality inspection by none other than the Government of India's Spices Board and passed by them for aflatoxin levels and the results and the test methods were given clearly in the certificates issued by them. As an exporter, what is required and possible to do, we have complied with the strictly laid rules in consonance with the rules of the importing country at the time of loading and we have produced all the genuine certificates to you through your bank to establish beyond any doubt that we have shipped the right quality at the right aflatoxin levels as unequivocally certified by the Spices Board, Government of India as required by the Food Control Administration Unit (Ministry of Health), Sri Lanka.

As regards the test results at the destination port, we find them inconsistent, arbitrary and erroneous. Whether the same methodology of testing is adopted or not, the results of the test conducted by SGS (which is only optional as per general procedure as you mention) and of the test conducted by the Ministry of Health, Sri Lanka (which is the ultimate authority and whose result is final) are grossly mismatching with both increase and decrease in findings from test 1 to test 2. Such abnormal variations in test results are dubious and cannot be the yardstick for rejecting the consignments which are passed by the Spices Board, Government of India which is the designated authority by the Food Control Administration Unit (Ministry of Health), Sri Lanka. As you are aware, Spices Board, Govt. of India wrote a specific letter to Ministry of health, Sri Lanka they have passed all our shipments after duly testing them and after pointing out the huge differences in the results between the 2 tests, recommended for another test before any decision was made by MOH, Sri Lanka. Till this message is written now, there was no reply from MOH.

When testing first with SGS is only optional there and not mandatory, from your statements in the mails dated 6th and 10th that we should plan our shipments with ETAs during the 1st fortnight of each month to avoid SGS, it is clear that their results are prejudiced and therefore your company should have avoided testing it with SGS.

If either of the results are considered for accepting or rejecting the consignments, both the optional SGS and the mandatory MOH laboratory must have submitted the samples for tests on the same day and the tests should have started and completed on the same dates to apply the concept of "level playing field" based on which the fate of the consignments should have been decided. But this crucial point was not followed there. There was an average gap of above two weeks from the date of drawing the sample and subjecting them to tests with MOH lab. The sample drawn by the MOH was kept in LDPE pouches from the time of drawing the sample to the time of testing with MOH lab and such unkind and inappropriate preservation of sample will certainly aggravate the results as agro products are vulnerable to unsuitable preservations. We invite your kind attention to the results of the container no. ASLU7034276 where the aflatoxin level has come down from 111.80 by SGS to 33 by MOH which was done after a lapse of 12 days since the sample drawn date. Had the test by MOH been conducted on the same day when the sample was drawn, the MOH result would have been lower than 30 and the shipment would have been passed. We take exception to the procedure being followed by MOH based on which casual decisions were made without realising the dire consequences faced by the exporters and importers. We are contemplating legal action against the defective testing modus operandi of MOH.

As regards the further course of actions, you have retired our documents from your bank (State Bank of India, Colombo) and therefore the title of ownership is transferred to you already and irrevocably. As we understand from the rules and regulations of Sri Lanka customs, as the owner of the goods, you are permitted to freely re-export to any destination, anywhere and buyers of your choice. In case you wish to re-export to India to our name, we shall endeavour our very best to clear the consignments, sell them and only then will be able to return the realised proceeds to you. We understand from one of your recent conversations with our Mr Raja that you have stopped our payments for 26 fcls by writing to your bank and ICFCU and they have also not paid our bills for 26 fcls despite our shipments being done under documentary credits.

We assure you of our support to get over this issue and we look forward to receiving your kind reply to pursue further.

Kind regards,
Yours sincerely,

M D Sivakumar

Dear Ms. Shara De Fonseka,

Thanks for your kind mails to which I reply commonly as below.

We had supplied dried red chili vide subject shipments to your company as per your order and prior to the shipments all our subject consignments had passed through the tests done at load port, which are alone mandatorily required by Food Administrative Control Unit, Ministry of Health, Sri Lanka for aflatoxin by the Spices board, the highest official authority in India for the export of dried red chillies.

Since the subject consignments were rejected by Ministry of Health, Sri Lanka based on the results of 2 tests done at destination, Colombo, with the same sample but at varying times, showing inadmissible aflatoxin levels, we have already explained to you that it is not possible to clear the said consignments when they are re-exported to India to anyone.

The subject shipments are bound by the irrevocable letters of credit issued by SBI Colombo and as per clauses of latest UCP version, the title of ownership for the subject consignments were already irreversibly conveyed to your company and as the owners of the consignments it is your discretion to take further steps in this matter to arrest further impact at destination.

We assure our unflinching commitment to extend our support in the future.

Regards,
Yours sincerely,
M D Sivakumar

Dear Siva,
Well noted your email. However, please note that we have informed you many times that Sri Lanka customs has requested us to reexport these cargo back and many times we requested from you for the reexport acceptance letters. But you have not provided these to us as requested. Therefore, we are unable to proceed with the reexport. Please provide us these reexport acceptance letters for us to proceed further.

Best regards,

Dear Ms. Shara,

Thanks for your kind reply. We have already explained to you negatively about the re-export to India and issuance of acceptance letters does not arise at all. Your harping on re-export to India will only delay the end. Being the owners you are entitled to re-export to anyone, anywhere.

Please be guided.

Dear Siva,

Refer to your email, as mentioned by you we are unable to reexport the cargo to anyone, anywhere. As clearly mentioned we have to reexport this back to the origin. Therefore, we have no other option but to wait for your reexport acceptance letters to proceed reexporting the cargo back to you.

Best regards,

Dear Shiva,

Good Morning,

Hope you aware the international trade rules and regulations, CFL continuously informed you, This mentioned 10 containers not satisfied Sri Lankan Health Ministry standers, therefore Sri Lankan Customs detained the containers and informed us to reshipe the consignment back to origin. Also, we clearly explained in our two physical meetings had with you at CFL premises regarding this matter and you and your team agreed that.

I kindly request you to provide necessary documents to sort this matter immediately.

Your immediate response will be highly appreciated.

Dear Yohan,

Good afternoon Dear. Thanks for your kind mail but still we disagree with your repeated contention. The subject consignments which are part and parcel of 26 x 40' containers under 5 bills of lading, shipped against your orders for medium quality dried chilies were thoroughly inspected, tested, passed and certified at load port Chennai, India as conforming to the standards stipulated in the food regulations of Sri Lanka by the Spices board, which is India's highest Govt authority for dried chili exports and despite such indubitable and irrefutable certification at load port entailing our only responsibility as the exporter, if part of these consignments are found not conforming to the standards at destination, it is only to do with the events that took place at the destination, Colombo, Sri Lanka and we are no way at fault. Presently you are the owners of all these 26x40' containers of goods and our association is severed. Hence the need for any letters from us will never arise.

Please be apprised.

Regards,

Yours sincerely,

M D Sivakumar

Dear Shiva,

Good Morning,

Plz try to understand, because if any chilly consignment not satisfied Sri Lankan health ministry stranded that consignment not allow to clear from the Sri Lankan customs, then it has to be re ship to country of origin, as you knew you were the exporter of this consignment and we need your acceptancy letter with mentioning how you will pay back to us. Once you share the acceptancy letter with mentioning pay back method of this commercial value our bank and Sri Lankan customs will allow me to re ship this mentioned consignment back to Origin.

Therefore, plz don't repeat same thing again and again because our two physical meetings had with your team at CFL premises you were agreed this concern.

Dear Yohan,

Good afternoon. We have received your kind mail of date, the contents of which we are again compelled to negate and refute. We have repeatedly explained to you, our situation in this matter. We will continue to inevitably maintain the same refrain to your future mails on this subject.

Please be informed.
